Welcome to the 2013-2014 School Year!

Nathan Cloutier doing a little scientific investigation.

We are so happy to have all the children back. We are equally happy to have so many new students joining us this year. For most of them it is their first school experience.

There have been a few additions to the staff this year as well as a few position changes.

Improvements have been made in physical education as well as art, which we hope you will come and observe.

Parent Nights were well attended and very informative. If you were not able to attend, please make it a point to find out the important points from your child's teacher.

Parent conferences are underway, so please be sure to sign up for your conference as soon as possible.

Here's to a productive school year!

Our New PE Instructor - Julio Matos!

We are very excited to have a new full-time physical education director, Julio Matos. Julio has been with us all summer and the students love him. He is extremely creative with the games and exercises, making physical education fun and challenging.

He is always just as excited about PE as the students are.
