iPads!

Ms. Daiva's Class with iPads, getting ready for Spanish.

Empowering students to discover the world and gain new knowledge independently is a core objective to the Delphi Program. A great way to accomplish this is through the ever increasingly easy to use mobile technology.

Now, while students study, they have finger-tip access to the Internet, dictionaries, encyclopedias and more. With Knowledge and Ethics being cornerstones to the virtues of Delphi, our students understand what it means to have such broad information available to them, and the responsibility that goes with it.

One use of the iPad that has really taken off is Spanish. In Forms 3 through 5, Ms. Jessi has been combining the traditional approach to learning a foreign language with a fun and interactive Spanish app. Another use is with the Graphic Design Club, using the iPad for desktop publishing.

We are excited about this evolution in technology and look forward to seeing how far the students can go with it.

Field Trips

Ms. Veronica's Class, picking and munching apples.

"Where does my fruit come from?" "I wish I could see what life was like on the Mayflower." "What is it like to live as a naturalist?"

Our students don't just read about it, they go see for themselves. Field trips are an essential part of the Delphi Program and the best way to put a child's learning into the context of living.

Form Completions!

Mekhi Ulysse proudly wears his medal for finishing Form 1.

Nothing translates into confidence and self-esteem like accomplishment.

Imagine going to a school where everything you complete, every goal you achieve is acknowledged and rewarded.

School should be exciting and a place a child wants to go to every day.

This year, the production and enthusiasm has been off the charts, with eleven Form Completions so far and many more on their Form exam.
