Wrapping Up The 2012 - 2013 School Year!

Art Everywhere

Student art on display and for auction in the main hallway.

On Friday, May 3rd, we held our annual Arts Festival. Every inch of the hallway walls from the main entrance to the multi-purpose room was covered with the stunning artwork that Ms. Marjorie had been collecting since September. While some parents were viewing the art, others were bidding on select items for auction. Throughout the two hour festival, student piano recitals were on going in the multi-purpose room.

Bike-A-Thon!

Myles Parker, Tony Le and Joyce Li, riding the beautiful trails of Borderland State Park

Despite the weather, Delphi students, parents, friends and relatives enjoyed a day of riding, cooking out and having fun at our annual fundraiser. This year was a success! The funds raised helped with the creation of a beautiful and spacious parking lot, which was greatly needed. Thank you to everyone who participated.

PARENTS' DAY!

A crowd of 500 plus, with standing room only turned out for a spectacular Parents' Day on Saturday, June 8th.

Opening Act - Sasha Shulkin flew us to the moon.

Mark Siegel gave us a down to Earth talk on education reform.

*Poignant speeches from the 2013
Graduates of Delphi Boston!*

Our friends from Kaitlyn's class sang their hearts out.

All they really need is a stage and 500 people to watch.

Veronica's class turned the raindrops into lemondrops.

Rita's class taught us about the bare necessities of life.

The crowd was dancing in the streets with Trish's class.

This Calypso number had everyone jumping.

Jyoti's and Dawn's class really were the world's greatest.

Adrian's boys said they don't dance. Don't believe them.

Daiva's class waved in a new tomorrow.

Amy's class capped it off one step at a time.
